Developing Your Leadership Training

This training allows student workers to develop as leaders through better understanding their role in the recruitment team and the team’s mode of operating. Student workers come away with action steps for how to leverage their experience in a way that increases their leadership capacity.

An effective Developing Your Leadership Training Training is:

- Informative and thorough
- Adaptable to audiences with different levels of experience

An effective Developing Your Leadership Training includes:

- Action steps for participants to complete
- Opportunities for audience participation
- Time for participants to reflect
- “Email Templates” document

Tips for an Effective Training

- Read the entire training thoroughly
- Rehearse the training aloud and time your rehearsal
- Print out supplementary materials ahead of time
- Ensure necessary presentation technology is functioning properly
- Arrange the room to suit the needs of your training
- Clearly display and distribute materials for the training

This resource is part of the Sanford Inspire Program Recruitment Toolkit, a model for teacher preparation programs to engage and attract future educators. Discover more resources at SanfordInspireProgram.org