This presentation serves as an introduction to the field of education, the first in a three-part series. Orient your audience to the achievement gap within education, the great need for excellent educators, and the powerful impact made by educators on their community and society as a whole.

An effective Lead.Inspire.Educate Presentation

- Many videos and testimonials to inspire students to become educators
- Direct connections between the needs in education and the individuals who can fill them
- Powerful information about the true need for and impact of excellent educators
- Delivered in 40-50 minutes, one typical high school period
- Eye-opening as a wake-up-call to the next generation
- Extremely engaging as a consistent call to action directed at students

This presentation serves as an introduction to the field of education, the balanced approach to the gap in education, the great need for excellent educators, and the powerful impact made by educators on their community and society as a whole.