Student Information Cards

These simple Student Info Cards are caused by student workers and recruiters to quickly gather contact information from students attending a presentation. The cards can be customized so recruiters obtain the information they need before leaving a presentation.

An effective Student Information Card is:

- Used for large groups, because sign-in sheets would take too long to pass around to the entire audience
- Given at the start of presentation to collect information quickly
- Processed and tracked into a communication system to easily ensure follow up communication

An effective Student Information Card includes:

- Name of student
- Year at school
- Preferred contact information
- Level of interest in learning more
